4. What was Gian Lorenzo Bernini believed to have designed at the Palacio de Queluz?

FASCINATING FACT

The canals throughout the garden were designed in the Chinoiserie Style, which is a blend of Chinese art in Western culture. These canals were once used to sail small intricate ships.

6. Portuguese azulejos (ceramic tiles) were an important element of Portuguese design in both architecture and landscape architecture. At Queluz they are most noticeable in the canal, but they are found throughout the gardens and palace. What are some of the similar themes that are used in the tiles (colors, patterns, pictures, etc).
